DECISION AND ORDER - AWARDING BENEFITS

This is a claim for worker's compensation benefits under the Longshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act, as amended (33 U.S.C. §901, et seq.), herein referred to as the "Act." The hearing was held on December 21 2000 in New London, Connecticut, at which time all parties were given the opportunity to present evidence and oral arguments. The following references will be used: TR for the official hearing transcript, ALJ EX for an exhibit offered by this Administrative Law Judge, CX for a Claimant's exhibit, DX for a Director's exhibit, JX for a joint exhibit and RX for an Employer's exhibit. This decision is being rendered after having given full consideration to the entire record.

Post-hearing evidence has been admitted as:

The record was closed on May 24, 2001 as no further documents were filed.

Stipulations and Issues

The parties stipulate (JX 1), and I find:

- 1. The Act applies to this proceeding.
- 2. In the course of his employment from March of 1956 through March 5, 1959 and from September 11, 1974 through 1985, the Claimant, Richard McKittrick, worked as a welder and a lead bonder.

- 3. In this employment, he was at various times exposed to lung irritants, including asbestos.
- 4. An employer/employee relationship existed at the time of the injury.
- 5. The injury arose within the course and scope of employment.

- 9. The date of injury was June 19, 1981 when he was diagnosed with cancer of the larynx.
- 10. Claimant had a laryngectomy performed on June 19, 1981. (CX 4)
- 11. The pathology revealed a squamous cell carcinoma grade II. (CX 11)
- 12. Dr. Susan Daum reviewed the medical records of the Claimant and determined that asbestos exposure was a significant risk factor over and above cigarette smoking for the development of carcinoma of the larynx. (CX 8)
- 13. On October 14, 1981 his doctor, Paul E. Johnson, returned him to light duty work. (CX 10)
- 14. However, he did not return to work at Electric Boat until May 17, 1982. (CX 22)
- 15. He returned to work as a weight clerk where he remained until April 4, 1985 when he was laid off.
- 16. He then obtained employment as a data entry clerk in October of 1984 and worked in that capacity until the end of November, 1992.
- 17. The parties have agreed that the average weekly wage is $365.60 with a compensation rate of $243.73.

- 18. In January of 1991, the parties agreed that Claimant had suffered a loss of wage earning capacity and the loss deflated to the time of injury was $185.60 a week with a compensation rate of $123.73.

- 20. In June of 1994, Mr. McKittrick began collecting Social Security Disability.
- 21. The parties agree that Mr. McKittrick should receive permanent and total disability from December 1, 1992 to the present and continuing plus the applicable annual adjustments provided in Section 10 of the Act based on an average weekly wage of $365.60.
- 22. The parties agree that Claimant reached maximum medical improvement on May 17, 1982 when he returned to light duty work at Electric Boat.
- 23. The parties further agree that the Employer shall furnish reasonable and necessary medical care and treatment for Claimant's injury.
- 24. The Claimant's attorney shall file a fully supported and fully itemized fee petition sending a copy thereof to Respondents' counsel who shall have fourteen (14) days to comment thereon.
- 25. The Employer shall receive credit for all amounts of compensation previously paid to the Claimant as a result of his June 19, 1981 injury.

The unresolved issues in this proceeding are:

- The nature and extent of Claimant's disability.
- 2. The date of his maximum medical improvement.
- 3. The applicability of Section 8(f) of the Act.

On the basis of the totality of this record¹, I make the following:

Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

This Administrative Law Judge, in arriving at a decision in this matter, is entitled to determine the credibility of the witnesses, to weigh the evidence and draw his own inferences from it, and he is not bound to accept the opinion or theory of any particular medical examiner. Banks v. Chicago Grain Trimmers Association, Inc., 390 U.S. 459 (1968), reh. denied, 391 U.S. 929 (1969); Todd Shipyards v. Donovan, 300 F.2d 741 (5th Cir. 1962); Scott v. Tug Mate, Incorporated, 22 BRBS 164, 165, 167 (1989); Hite v. Dresser Guiberson Pumping, 22 BRBS 87, 91 (1989); Anderson v. Todd Shipyard Corp., 22 BRBS 20, 22 (1989); Hughes v. Bethlehem Steel Corp., 17 BRBS 153 (1985); Seaman v. Jacksonville Shipyard, Inc., 14 BRBS 148.9 (1981); Brandt v. Avondale Shipyards, Inc., 8 BRBS 698 (1978); Sargent v. Matson Terminal, Inc., 8 BRBS 564 (1978).

The Act provides a presumption that a claim comes within its provisions. See 33 U.S.C. §920(a). This Section 20 presumption "applies as much to the nexus between an employee's malady and his employment activities as it does to any other aspect of a claim." Swinton v. J. Frank Kelly, Inc., 554 F.2d 1075 (D.C. Cir. 1976), cert. denied, 429 U.S. 820 (1976). Claimant's uncontradicted credible testimony alone may constitute sufficient proof of physical injury. Golden v. Eller & Co., 8 BRBS 846 (1978), aff'd, 620 F.2d 71 (5th Cir. 1980); Hampton v. Bethlehem Steel Corp., 24 BRBS 141 (1990); Anderson v. Todd Shipyards, supra, at 21; Miranda v. Excavation Construction, Inc., 13 BRBS 882 (1981).

However, this statutory presumption does not dispense with the requirement that a claim of injury must be made in the first instance, nor is it a substitute for the testimony necessary to establish a "prima facie" case. The Supreme Court has held that prima facie 'claim for compensation,' to which the statutory presumption refers, must at least allege an injury that arose in the course of employment as well as out of employment." United States Indus./Fed. Sheet Metal, Inc., v. Director, Office of Workers' Compensation Programs, U.S. Dep't of Labor, 455 U.S. 608, 615 102 S. Ct. 1318, 14 BRBS 631, 633 (CRT) (1982), rev'g Riley v. U.S. Indus./Fed. Sheet Metal, Inc., 627 F.2d 455 (D.C. Cir. 1980). Moreover, "the mere existence of a physical impairment is plainly insufficient to shift the burden of proof to the employer." U.S. Industries/Federal Sheet Metal, Inc., et al., v. Director, Office of Compensation Programs, U.S. Department of Labor, 455 U.S. 608, 102 S.Ct. 1318 (1982), rev'g Riley v. U.S. Industries/Federal Sheet Metal, Inc., 627 F.2d 455 (D.C. Cir. 1980). presumption, though, is applicable once claimant establishes that he has sustained an injury, i.e., harm to his body. Preziosi v. Controlled Industries, 22 BRBS 468, 470 (1989); Brown v. Pacific Dry Dock Industries, 22 BRBS 284, 285 (1989); Trask v. Lockheed Shipbuilding and Construction Company, 17 BRBS 56, 59 (1985); Kelaita v. Triple A. Machine Shop, 13 BRBS 326 (1981).

 $^{^{1}}$ As the Employer has accepted this claim and as the parties preserved Claimant's testimony by depositions given on January 3, 1991 and on January 13, 2000 (CX 23, CX 24), Claimant was excused from attending the hearing in view of his multiple medical problems and the distance to the Court from his home in Rhode Island.

To establish a prima facie claim for compensation, a claimant need not affirmatively establish a connection between work and harm. Rather, a claimant has the burden of establishing only that (1) the claimant sustained physical harm or pain and (2) an accident occurred in the course of employment, or conditions existed at work, which could have caused the harm or pain. Kelaita, supra; Kier v. Bethlehem Steel Corp., 16 BRBS 128 (1984). Once this prima facie case is established, a presumption is created under Section 20(a) that the employee's injury or death arose out of employment. rebut the presumption, the party opposing entitlement must present substantial evidence proving the absence of or severing the connection between such harm and employment or working Kier, supra; Parsons Corp. of California v. conditions. Director, OWCP, 619 F.2d 38 (9th Cir. 1980); Butler v. District Parking Management Co., 363 F.2d 682 (D.C. Cir. 1966); Ranks v. Bath Iron Works Corp., 22 BRBS 301, 305 (1989). Once claimant establishes a physical harm and working conditions which could have caused or aggravated the harm or pain the burden shifts to the employer to establish that claimant's condition was not caused or aggravated by his employment. Brown v. Pacific Dry Dock, 22 BRBS 284 (1989); Rajotte v. General Dynamics Corp., 18

BRBS 85 (1986). If the presumption is rebutted, it no longer controls and the record as a whole must be evaluated to determine the issue of causation. Del Vecchio v. Bowers, 296 U.S. 280 (1935); Volpe v. Northeast Marine Terminals, 671 F.2d 697 (2d Cir. 1981). In such cases, I must weigh all of the evidence relevant to the causation issue. Sprague v. Director, OWCP, 688 F.2d 862 (1st Cir. 1982); MacDonald v. Trailer Marine Transport Corp., 18 BRBS 259 (1986).

In the case sub judice, Claimant alleges that the harm to his bodily frame, i.e., his carcinoma of the larynx, resulted from his exposure to and inhalation of asbestos at the Employer's shipyard. The Employer has introduced no evidence severing the connection between such harm and Claimant's maritime employment. In this regard, see Romeike v. Kaiser Shipyards, 22 BRBS 57 (1989). Thus, Claimant has established a prima facie claim that such harm is a work-related injury, as shall now be discussed.

Injury

The term "injury" means accidental injury or death arising out of and in the course of employment, and such occupational disease or infection as arises naturally out of such employment or as naturally or unavoidably results from such accidental See 33 U.S.C. §902(2); U.S. Industries/Federal Sheet Metal, Inc., et al., v. Director, Office of Workers Compensation Programs, U.S. Department of Labor, 455 U.S. 608, 102 S.Ct. 1312 (1982), rev'g Riley v. U.S. Industries/Federal Sheet Metal, Inc., 627 F.2d 455 (D.C. Cir. 1980). A work-related aggravation of a pre-existing condition is an injury pursuant to Section 2(2) of the Act. Gardner v. Bath Iron Works Corporation, 11 BRBS 556 (1979), aff'd sub nom. Gardner v. Director, OWCP, 640 F.2d 1385 (1st Cir. 1981); Preziosi v. Controlled Industries, 22 BRBS 468 (1989); Janusziewicz v. Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, 22 BRBS 376 (1989) (Decision and Order on Remand); Johnson v. Ingalls Shipbuilding, 22 BRBS 160 (1989); Madrid v. Coast Marine Construction, 22 BRBS 148 (1989). Moreover, the employment-related injury need not be the sole cause, or primary factor, in a disability for compensation purposes. Rather, if an employment-related injury contributes to, combines with or aggravates a pre-existing disease or underlying condition, the entire resultant disability is compensable. Strachan Shipping

v. Nash, 782 F.2d 513 (5th Cir. 1986); Independent Stevedore Co. v. O'Leary, 357 F.2d 812 (9th Cir. 1966); Kooley v. Marine Industries Northwest, 22 BRBS 142 (1989); Mijangos v. Avondale Shipyards, Inc., 19 BRBS 15 (1986); Rajotte v. General Dynamics Corp., 18 BRBS 85 (1986). Also, when claimant sustains an injury at work which is followed by the occurrence of a subsequent injury or aggravation outside work, employer is liable for the entire disability if that subsequent injury is the natural and unavoidable consequence or result of the initial work injury. Bludworth Shipyard, Inc. v. Lira, 700 F.2d 1046 (5th Cir. 1983); Mijangos, supra; Hicks v. Pacific Marine & Supply Co., 14 BRBS 549 (1981). The term injury includes the aggravation of a pre-existing non-work-related condition or the combination of work- and non-work-related conditions. Lopez v. Southern Stevedores, 23 BRBS 295 (1990); Care v. WMATA, 21 BRBS 248 (1988).

In occupational disease cases, there is no "injury" until the accumulated effects of the harmful substance manifest themselves and claimant becomes aware, or in the exercise of reasonable diligence or by reason of medical advice should become have been aware, of the relationship between the employment, the disease and the death or disability. Travelers Insurance Co. v. Cardillo, 225 F.2d 137 (2d Cir. 1955), cert. denied, 350 U.S. 913 (1955). Thorud v. Brady-Hamilton Stevedore Company, et al., 18 BRBS 232 (1987); Geisler v. Columbia Asbestos, Inc., 14 BRBS 794 (1981). Nor does the Act require that the injury be traceable to a definite time. The fact that claimant's injury occurred gradually over a period of time as a result of continuing exposure to conditions of employment is no bar to a finding of an injury within the meaning of the Act. Bath Iron Works Corp. v. White, 584 F.2d 569 (1st Cir. 1978).

This closed record conclusively establishes, and I so find and conclude, that Claimant's cancer of the larynx constitutes a work-related injury as a result of his exposure to lung irritants, including asbestos dust and fibers, in the course of his maritime employment, that the Employer had timely notice thereof and that Claimant timely filed for benefits once a dispute arose between the parties. In fact, the principal issue is the nature and extent of his disability, an issue I shall now resolve.

Nature and Extent of Disability

It is axiomatic that disability under the Act is an economic concept based upon a medical foundation. Quick v. Martin, 397 F. 2d 644 (D.C. Cir. 1968); Owens v. Traynor, 274 F. Supp. 770 (D.Md. 1967), aff'd, 396 F.2d 783 (4th Cir. 1968), cert. denied, 393 U.S. 962 (1968). Thus, the extent of disability cannot be measured by physical or medical condition alone. Nardella v. Machine, Inc., 525 F.2d 46 (9th Cir. Consideration must be given to claimant's age, education, industrial history and the availability of work he can perform after the injury. American Mutual Insurance Company of Boston v. Jones, 426 F.2d 1263 (D.C. Cir. 1970). Even a relatively minor injury may lead to a finding of total disability if it prevents the employee from engaging in the only type of gainful employment for which he is qualified. (Id. at 1266)

Claimant has the burden of proving the nature and extent of his the benefit disability without οf the Section Carroll v. Hanover Bridge Marina, 17 BRBS 176 presumption. (1985); Hunigman v. Sun Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., 8 BRBS 141 However, once claimant has established that he is unable to return to his former employment because of a workrelated injury or occupational disease, the burden shifts to the employer to demonstrate the availability of suitable alternate employment or realistic job opportunities which claimant is capable of performing and which he could secure if he diligently tried. New Orleans (Gulfwide) Stevedores v. Turner, 661 F.2d 1031 (5th Cir. 1981); Air America v. Director, 597 F.2d 773 (1st Cir. 1979); American Stevedores, Inc. v. Salzano, 538 F.2d 933 (2d Cir. 1976); Preziosi v. Controlled Industries, 22 BRBS 468, 471 (1989); Elliott v. C & P Telephone Co., 16 BRBS 89 (1984). While Claimant generally need not show that he has tried to obtain employment, Shell v. Teledyne Movible Offshore, Inc., 14 BRBS 585 (1981), he bears the burden of demonstrating his willingness to work, Trans-State Dredging v. Benefits Review Board, 731 F.2d 199 (4th Cir. 1984), once suitable alternate employment is shown. Wilson v. Dravo Corporation, 22 BRBS 463, 466 (1989); Royce v. Elrich Construction Company, 17 BRBS 156 (1985).

On the basis of the totality of this closed record, I find and conclude that Claimant has established he cannot return to work as a welder and lead bonder. The burden thus rests upon the Employer to demonstrate the existence of suitable alternate employment in the area. If the Employer does not carry this burden, Claimant is entitled to a finding of total disability. American Stevedores, Inc. v. Salzano, 538 F.2d 933 (2d Cir. 1976); Southern v. Farmers Export Company, 17 BRBS 64 (1985). In the case at bar, the Employer did not submit any evidence as to the availability of suitable alternate employment. See Pilkington v. Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, 9 BRBS 473 (1978), aff'd on reconsideration after remand, 14 BRBS 119 (1981). See also Bumble Bee Seafoods v. Director, OWCP, 629 F.2d 1327 (9th Cir. 1980). I therefore find Claimant has a total disability on and after December 1, 1992.

Claimant's injury has become permanent. A permanent disability is one which has continued for a lengthy period and is of lasting or indefinite duration, as distinguished from one in which recovery merely awaits a normal healing period. General Dynamics Corporation v. Benefits Review Board, 565 F.2d 208 (2d Cir. 1977); Watson v. Gulf Stevedore Corp., 400 F.2d 649 (5th Cir. 1968), cert. denied, 394 U.S. 976 (1969); Seidel v. General Dynamics Corp., 22 BRBS 403, 407 (1989); Stevens v. Lockheed Shipbuilding Co., 22 BRBS 155, 157 (1989); Trask v. Lockheed Shipbuilding and Construction Company, 17 BRBS (1985); Mason v. Bender Welding & Machine Co., 16 BRBS 307, 309 The traditional approach for determining whether an injury is permanent or temporary is to ascertain the date of "maximum medical improvement." The determination of when maximum medical improvement is reached so that claimant's disability may be said to be permanent is primarily a question of fact based on medical evidence. Lozada v. Director, OWCP, 903 F.2d 168, 23 BRBS 78 (CRT) (2d Cir. 1990); Hite v. Dresser Guiberson Pumping, 22 BRBS 87, 91 (1989); Care v. Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority, 21 BRBS 248 (1988); Wayland v. Moore Dry Dock, 21 BRBS 177 (1988); Eckley v. Fibrex and Shipping Company, 21 BRBS 120 (1988); Williams v. General Dynamics Corp., 10 BRBS 915 (1979).

The Benefits Review Board has held that a determination that claimant's disability is temporary or permanent may not be based on a prognosis that claimant's condition may improve and become stationary at some future time. Meecke v. I.S.O. Personnel Support Department, 10 BRBS 670 (1979). The Board has also held that a disability need not be "eternal or everlasting" to be permanent and the possibility of a favorable change does not foreclose a finding of permanent disability. Exxon Corporation v. White, 617 F.2d 292 (5th Cir. 1980), aff'g 9 BRBS 138 (1978). Such future changes may be considered in a Section 22 modification proceeding when and if they occur. Fleetwood v. Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, 16 BRBS 282 (1984), aff'd, 776 F.2d 1225, 18 BRBS 12 (CRT) (4th Cir. 1985).

Permanent disability has been found where little hope exists of eventual recovery, Air America, Inc. v. Director, OWCP, 597 F.2d 773 (1st Cir. 1979), where claimant has already undergone a large number of treatments over a long period of time, Meecke v. I.S.O. Personnel Support Department, 10 BRBS 670 (1979), even though there is the possibility of favorable change from recommended surgery, and where work within claimant's work restrictions is not available, Bell v. Volpe/Head Construction Co., 11 BRBS 377 (1979), and on the basis of claimant's credible complaints of pain alone. Eller and Co. v. Golden, 620 F.2d 71 (5th Cir. 1980). Furthermore, there is no requirement in the Act that medical testimony be introduced, Ballard v. Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., 8 BRBS 676 (1978); Ruiz v. Universal Maritime Service Corp., 8 BRBS 451 (1978), or that claimant be bedridden to be totally disabled, Watson v. Gulf Stevedore Corp., 400 F.2d 649 (5th Cir. 1968). Moreover, the burden of proof in a temporary total case is the same as in a Bell, supra. See also Walker v. AAF permanent total case. Exchange Service, 5 BRBS 500 (1977); Swan v. George Hyman Construction Corp., 3 BRBS 490 (1976). There is no requirement that claimant undergo vocational rehabilitation testing prior to a finding of permanent total disability, Mendez v. Bernuth Marine Shipping, Inc., 11 BRBS 21 (1979); Perry v. Stan Flowers Company, 8 BRBS 533 (1978), and an award of permanent total disability may be modified based on a change of condition. Watson v. Gulf Stevedore Corp., supra.

An employee is considered permanently disabled if he has any residual disability after reaching maximum medical improvement. Lozada v. General Dynamics Corp., 903 F.2d 168, 23 BRBS 78 (CRT) (2d Cir. 1990); Sinclair v. United Food & Commercial Workers, 13 BRBS 148 (1989); Trask v. Lockheed Shipbuilding & Construction Co., 17 BRBS 56 (1985). A condition is permanent if claimant is no longer undergoing treatment with a view towards improving his condition, Leech v. Service Engineering Co., 15 BRBS 18 (1982), or if his condition has stabilized. Lusby v. Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority, 13 BRBS 446 (1981).

A disability is considered permanent as of the date claimant's condition reaches maximum medical improvement or if the condition has continued for a lengthy period and appears to be of lasting or indefinite duration, as distinguished from one in which recovery merely awaits a normal healing period. Watson v. Gulf Stevedore Corp., 400 F.2d 649 (5th Cir. 1968), cert. denied. 394 U.S. 976 (1969). If a physician believes that further treatment should be undertaken, then a possibility of improvement exists, and even if, in retrospect, the treatment was unsuccessful, maximum medical improvement does not occur until the treatment is complete. Louisiana Ins. Guaranty Assn. v. Abbott, 40 F.3d 122, 29 BRBS 22(CRT)(5th Cir. 1994); Leech v. Service Engineering Co., 15 BRBS 18 (1982). If surgery is anticipated, maximum medical improvement has not been reached. Kuhn v. Associated press, 16 BRBS 46 (1983). If surgery is not anticipated, or if the prognosis after surgery is uncertain, the claimant's condition may be permanent. Worthington v. Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., 18 BRBS 200 (1986); White v. Exxon Corp., 9 BRBS 138 (1978), aff'd mem., 617 F.2d 292 (5th Cir. 1982).

On the basis of the totality of the record, I find and conclude that Claimant has been permanently and totally disabled from December 1, 1992, according to the well-reasoned opinion of Dr. Urbanetti. (CX 17)

Interest

Although not specifically authorized in the Act, it has been accepted practice that interest at the rate of six (6) percent per annum is assessed on all past due compensation payments. Avallone v. Todd Shipyards Corp., 10 BRBS 724 (1978). Benefits Review Board and the Federal Courts have previously upheld interest awards on past due benefits to ensure that the employee receives the full amount of compensation due. v. Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., 8 BRBS 556 (1978), aff'd in pertinent part and rev'd on other grounds sub nom. Newport News v. Director, OWCP, 594 F.2d 986 (4th Cir. 1979); Santos v. General Dynamics Corp., 22 BRBS 226 (1989); Adams v. Newport News Shipbuilding, 22 BRBS 78 (1989); Smith v. Ingalls Shipbuilding, 22 BRBS 26, 50 (1989); Caudill v. Sea Tac Alaska Shipbuilding, 22 BRBS 10 (1988); Perry v. Carolina Shipping, 20 BRBS 90 (1987); Hoey v. General Dynamics Corp., 17 BRBS 229 (1985). The Board concluded that inflationary trends in our economy have rendered a fixed six percent rate no longer appropriate to further the purpose of making claimant whole, and held that ". . . the fixed six percent rate should be replaced by the rate employed by the United States District Courts under 28 U.S.C. §1961 (1982). This rate is periodically changed to reflect the yield on United States Treasury Bills . . . "

Grant v. Portland Stevedoring Company, 16 BRBS 267, 270 (1984), modified on reconsideration, 17 BRBS 20 (1985). Section 2(m) of Pub. L. 97-258 provided that the above provision would become effective October 1, 1982. This Order incorporates by reference this statute and provides for its specific administrative application by the District Director. The appropriate rate shall be determined as of the filing date of this Decision and Order with the District Director.

Section 14(e)

Claimant is not entitled to an award of additional compensation, pursuant to the provisions of Section 14(e), as the Employer timely controverted Claimant's entitlement to benefits. Ramos v. Universal Dredging Corporation, 15 BRBS 140, 145 (1982); Garner v. Olin Corp., 11 BRBS 502, 506 (1979).

Medical Expenses

An Employer found liable for the payment of compensation is, pursuant to Section 7(a) of the Act, responsible for those medical expenses reasonably and necessarily incurred as a result of a work-related injury. Perez v. Sea-Land Services, Inc., 8 BRBS 130 (1978). The test is whether or not the treatment is recognized as appropriate by the medical profession for the care and treatment of the injury. Colburn v. General Dynamics Corp., 21 BRBS 219, 22 (1988); Barbour v. Woodward & Lothrop, Inc., 16 BRBS 300 (1984). Entitlement to medical services is never timebarred where a disability is related to a compensable injury. Addison v. Ryan-Walsh Stevedoring Company, 22 BRBS 32, (1989); Mayfield v. Furthermore, an employee's right to select his own physician, pursuant to Section 7(b), is well settled. Bulone v. Universal Terminal and Stevedore Corp., 8 BRBS 515 (1978). Section 8(f) of the Act

Regarding the Section 8(f) issue, the essential elements of that provision are met, and employer's liability is limited to one hundred and four (104) weeks, if the record establishes that employee pre-existing permanent had а disability, (2) which was manifest to the employer prior to the subsequent compensable injury and (3) which combined with the subsequent injury to produce or increase the employee's permanent total or partial disability, a disability greater than that resulting from the first injury alone. Lawson v. Suwanee Fruit and Steamship Co., 336 U.S. 198 (1949); FMC Corporation v. Director, OWCP, 886 F.2d 118523 BRBS 1 (CRT) (9th Cir. 1989); Director, OWCP v. Lockheed Shipbuilding & Construction Co., 8 BRBS 399 (1978); Nobles v. Children's Hospital, 8 BRBS 13 The provisions of Section 8(f) are to be liberally construed. See Director v. Todd Shipyard Corporation, 625 F.2d 317 (9th Cir. 1980). The benefit of Section 8(f) is not denied an employer simply because the new injury merely aggravates an existing disability rather than creating a separate disability unrelated to the existing disability. Director, OWCP v. General Dynamics Corp., 705 F.2d 562, 15 BRBS 30 (CRT) (1st Cir. 1983); Kooley v. Marine Industries Northwest, 22 BRBS 142, 147 (1989); Benoit v. General Dynamics Corp., 6 BRBS 762 (1977).

The employer need not have actual knowledge of the preexisting condition. Instead, "the key to the issue is the availability to the employer of knowledge of the pre-existing condition, not necessarily the employer's actual knowledge of it." Dillingham Corp. v. Massey, 505 F.2d 1126, 1228 (9th Cir. Evidence of access to or the existence of medical records suffices to establish the employer was aware of the precondition. existing Director v. A disability will be found to be manifest if it is "objectively determinable" from medical records kept by a hospital or treating physician. Falcone v. Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, 16 BRBS 259 (1984); Falcone, supra.

The pre-existing permanent partial disability need not be economically disabling. Director, OWCP v. Campbell Industries, 678 F.2d 836, 14 BRBS 974 (9th Cir. 1982), cert. denied, 459 U.S. 1104 (1983); Equitable Equipment Company v. Hardy, 558 F.2d 1192, 6 BRBS 666 (5th Cir. 1977); Atlantic & Gulf Stevedores v. Director, OWCP, 542 F.2D 602 (3d Cir. 1976).

An x-ray showing pleural thickening, followed by continued exposure to the injurious stimuli, establishes a pre-existing permanent partial disability. Topping v. Newport News Shipbuilding, 16 BRBS 40 (1983); Musgrove v. William E. Campbell Co., 14 BRBS 762 (1982).

Section 8(f) relief is not applicable where the permanent total disability is due solely to the second injury. In this regard, see Director, OWCP (Bergeron) v. General Dynamics Corp., 982 F.2d 790, 26 BRBS 139 (CRT)(2d Cir. 1992); Luccitelli v. General Dynamics Corp., 964 F.2d 1303, 26 BRBS 1 (CRT)(2d Cir. 1992); CNA Insurance Company v. Legrow, 935 F.2d 430, 24 BRBS 202 (CRT)(1st Cir. 1991) In addressing the contribution element of Section 8(f), the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, in whose jurisdiction the instant case arises, has specifically stated that the employer's burden of establishing that a claimant's subsequent injury alone would not have caused claimant's permanent total disability is not satisfied merely by showing that the pre-existing condition made the disability worse than it would have been with only the subsequent injury. See Director, OWCP v. General Dynamics Corp. (Bergeron), supra.

The medical evidence related to the Section 8(f) application will be summarized at this point.

Claimant injured himself in April of 1979 and sustained injuries to his chest and right shoulder. This is noted in the Electric Boat yard hospital records. (RX 4-24) He was already complaining by that time of chest muscle spasms dating from late 1978. (RX 4-22) He commenced treatment with Louis Coulson, M.D. (RX 8) He was diagnosed with thoracic outlet syndrome. (RX 8-4/5) Dr. Coulson notes that the first rib was removed in 1975. (RX 8-4) Dr. Coulson transferred the care to Charles Francis Roe, M.D. (RX 8-23) Claimant was treated for symptoms of both thoracic outlet and cervical disc disease. The records show that the symptoms were consistent with elements of each condition.

Dr. Roe commenced treatment of Claimant. In fact, Dr. Roe had treated Claimant in the past and had earlier limited his ability to work because of problems secondary to a rib resection. While his office notes are not available, the transcript of the deposition of Dr. Roe taken July 9, 1981 was offered into evidence. (RX 10) The record discloses that Dr. Roe had treated Claimant before this and that Claimant was returned to work in a light duty capacity in 1977 due to a rib resection. (RX 6) Again in April of 1981, Claimant is returned to a light duty capacity by Dr. Roe. (RX 6-1) Dr. Roe opined in his deposition that Claimant had a permanent defect due to the thoracic outlet syndrome and that he was permanently restricted. (RX 10-14/15)

Records from the Lawrence and Memorial Hospital have been offered showing that Claimant also carried a diagnosis of scoliosis (RX 11-4), fibrotic alterations (RX 11-14), emphysema (11-16), and carpal tunnel syndrome (11-20). All of these conditions are known prior to the diagnosis of throat cancer.

Claimant was working with restrictions at Electric Boat when he was diagnosed with throat cancer. The residuals from the thoracic outlet syndrome continued to affect his ability to work. Dr. Coulson notes that Claimant had increased pain with activity in the cervical and thoracic area and that he had increased numbness in the right extremity. (RX 8-24) Mario Sculco, M.D. found cervical radiculoneuritis and ongoing carpal tunnel syndrome on his evaluation in May of 1983. (RX 14)

In 1985 Dr. Coulson issued a report stating that Claimant's disability was due to a combination of cervical situation and the laryngectomy. (RX 9) S. Pearce Browning, III, M.D. issued a report of May 21, 1995. (RX 18) He opined that the condition of Claimant was due to a combination of medical problems. Claimant suffered 10% of each hand due to his carpal tunnel and 10% of each arm due to the thoracic outlet situation.

In January of 1998, Stephen L. Matarese, D.O. issued his report. (RX 19) He notes that the restrictions for the throat cancer would be based on an exposure to fumes. Dr. Browning has outlined the disability due to the various orthopedic and neurological conditions. Dr. Matarese has outlined the restrictions due to the cancer. It is clear that Claimant's overall condition is due to a combination of factors and not to the cancer alone. Dr. Browning states such on page 2 of his report. (RX 18-2)

Paul E. Johnson, M.D. was treating Claimant for his carcinoma of the larynx. He opined that Claimant could be released for work provided that work simply afforded greater protection to the airway. (CX 10-1)

Prior to the onset of the various medical problems noted above, Claimant was a lead bonder. (CX 22) As a result of the carpal tunnel, thoracic outlet and cervical problems, he was placed in a light duty capacity. On top of this situation the throat cancer simply served to further restrict his placement in the lead bonding position. However, Claimant had already been removed from that position due to the other problems.

The lost wages suffered by Claimant were not solely attributable to the throat cancer. The record shows the diagnosis of the throat cancer as occurring in the spring of 1981. It is at this very time that Dr. Roe is allowing Claimant to return to a light duty position because he is not capable of a return to his regular job. Claimant worked in a light duty capacity starting May 17, 1982. He was totally disabled from June 11, 1981 to May 16, 1982, secondary to a recovery from the throat cancer.

On the basis of the totality of the record, I find and conclude that the Employer has satisfied these requirements. The record reflects (1) that Claimant has worked for the Employer from March of 1956 through March 5, 1959 and from September 11, 1974 through April 4, 1985, (2) that he has sustained previous work-related industrial accidents prior to June 19, 1981, (3) while working at the Employer's shippard and (4) that Claimant's permanent partial and total disability is the result of the combination of his pre-existing permanent partial disability and his June 19, 1981 injury as such preexisting disability, in combination with the subsequent work injury, has contributed to a greater degree of permanent disability, according to Dr. Browning (RX 18) and Dr. Matarese. (RX 19). See Atlantic & Gulf Stevedores v. Director, OWCP, 542 F.2d 602, 4 BRBS 79 (3d Cir. 1976); Dugan v. Todd Shipyards, 22 BRBS 42 (1989).

Claimant's condition, prior to his final injury on June 19, 1981, was the classic condition of a high-risk employee whom a cautious employer would neither have hired nor rehired nor retained in employment due to the increased likelihood that such an employee would sustain another occupational injury. C & P Telephone Company v. Director, OWCP, 564 F.2d 503, 6 BRBS 399 (D.C. Cir. 1977), rev'g in part, 4 BRBS 23 (1976); Preziosi v. Controlled Industries, 22 BRBS 468 (1989); Hallford v. Ingalls Shipbuilding, 15 BRBS 112 (1982).

Even in cases where Section 8(f) is applicable, the Special Fund is not liable for medical benefits. Barclift v. Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., 15 BRBS 418 (1983), rev'd on other ground sub nom. Director, OWCP v. Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., 737 F.2d 1295 (4th Cir. 1984); Scott v. Rowe Machine Works, 9 BRBS 198 (1978); Spencer v. Bethlehem Steel Corp., 7 BRBS 675 (1978).

The Board has held that an employer is entitled to interest, payable by the Special Fund, on monies paid in excess of its liability under Section 8(f). Campbell v. Lykes Brothers Steamship Co., Inc., 15 BRBS 380 (1983); Lewis v. American Marine Corp., 13 BRBS 637 (1981).

Attorney's Fee

Claimant's attorney, having successfully prosecuted this matter, is entitled to a fee assessed against the Employer as a self-insurer. Claimant's attorney filed a fee application on January 31, 2001 (CX 26) concerning services rendered and costs incurred in representing Claimant between January 30, 1996 and January 25, 2001. Attorney Carolyn P. Kelly seeks a fee of $4,941.16 (including expenses) based on 23 hours of attorney time and 5 hours of paralegal time at various hourly rates.

In accordance with established practice, I will consider only those services rendered and costs incurred after November 8, 1995, date of the informal conference. Services rendered prior to this date should be submitted to the District Director for her consideration.

In light of the nature and extent of the excellent legal services rendered to Claimant by his attorney, the amount of compensation obtained for Claimant and the Employer's lack of comments on the requested fee, I find a legal fee of $4,941.16 (including expenses of $66.16) is reasonable and in accordance with the criteria provided in the Act and regulations, 20 C.F.R. §702.132, and is hereby approved. The expenses are approved as reasonable and necessary litigation expenses. My approval of the hourly rates is limited to the factual situation herein and to the firm members identified in the fee petition.

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and upon the entire record, I issue the following compensation order. The specific dollar computations of the compensation award shall be administratively performed by the District Director.

It is therefore ORDERED that:

1. The Employer as a self-insurer shall pay to the Claimant compensation for his permanent partial disability, at the weekly rate of $123.73, as provided by Sections 8(c)(21) and 8(h) of the Act, and such benefits shall commence on January 1, 1991 and continue through and until November 30, 1992.

- 2. Commencing on December 1, 1992 the Employer shall pay to the Claimant compensation benefits for his permanent total disability, plus the applicable annual adjustments provided in Section 10 of the Act, based upon an average weekly wage of $365.60, such compensation to be computed in accordance with Section 8(a) of the Act.
- 3. The Employer's obligation herein is limited to the payment of 104 weeks of permanent benefits and after the cessation of payments by the Employer, continuing benefits shall be paid, pursuant to Section 8(f) of the Act, from the Special Fund established in Section 44 of the Act until further Order.
- 4. The Employer shall receive credit for that compensation previously paid to the Claimant as a result of his June 19, 1981 injury on and after January 1, 1991. The Employer shall also receive a refund, with appropriate interest, of any overpayments of compensation made to Claimant herein.
- 5. Interest shall be paid by the Employer and Special Fund on all accrued benefits at the T-bill rate applicable under 28 U.S.C. §1961 (1982), computed from the date each payment was originally due until paid. The appropriate rate shall be determined as of the filing date of this Decision and Order with the District Director.
- 6. The Employer shall furnish such reasonable, appropriate and necessary medical care and treatment as the Claimant's work-related injury referenced herein may require, even after the time period specified in the third Order provision above, subject to the provisions of Section 7 of the Act.
- 7. The Employer shall pay to Claimant's attorney, Carolyn P. Kelly, the sum of $4,941.16 (including expenses) as a reasonable fee for representing Claimant herein before the Office of Administrative Law Judges between January 30, 1996 and May 10, 1996.
